

Luci in Cielo – Luci in the Sky

A solo show of 5 video , projected on screens of cm 75 x 70 ( inches...) painted in black and light.

On each screen will be projected a short video in black and white of undefined nocturne movements in the sky. Each short will be edited by different editors, with the same footage.

Each screen has a piece of music which won't be edited with the video, but installed by the screen and played as a subliminal effect.

Each screen will be provided of a sensor and a small box, a speaker, so that each person, getting closer to the set will tune up or down the music. The all technique is controlled by a personal computer and a very simple software.

The all installation has to be portable.

There is not a pre - conceptual meaning in this project. Not a message: imagination and listening.

The show will be curated by Giuseppe Furchieri, a musicologist and expert in performance art and sound installations. He lives in Paris and he is going to propose the show to the Victor Hugo museum. (Victor Hugo was a realistic writer with a spiritualist culture).

This project may be a show of a night, as special event, or an art show of a longer time.

A test has been viewed in private vision in Paris, February 7. Furchieri has already approved the video with music by Eve Beglarian and the one edited by Paul Lamm with music by Ludovico Einaudi.

A project changes in front of new events. Therefore this project is still open to any form of critique and improvement.
